

3 Campuses

Global Hub: A Triple-Campus Network, Complete with the Opening of Songdo Campus

With the opening of Songdo Campus, we are completing an integrated triple-campus network linking the Seoul, Global, and Songdo campuses. By bringing together education, research, and industry partnerships across all three campuses, we are moving forward as a next-generation global education platform that connects Korea with the world.

Songdo Campus: A New Gateway to a Global Future

Hankuk University of Foreign Studies (HUFS) is expanding the horizons of global education with the opening of its new Songdo Campus. The newly established Division of Global Biosciences & Business and Open Majors for International Students will admit 100 new students each year, nurturing talent with expertise in both the bio industry and international business. Located near world-renowned biotech companies such as Samsung Biologics, Lotte Biologics, and Celltrion, the campus provides a practical, industry-connected educational environment. As Songdo serves as a key gateway for international talent, the campus will also act as a global learning hub by offering tailored Korean language education and comprehensive settlement support programs for international students. Bringing together students and researchers from around the world, HUFS Songdo Campus will become a hub for international exchange, creating new opportunities for the future.

Special Address by Former U.S. President Barack Obama at HUFS

“Come to this great university, where a new generation is taking its place in the world, creating opportunities that your parents and grandparents could only imagine.”

HUFS Innovation

Building an AI Campus in Partnership with Leading AI Companies

By making AI literacy a core part of every student's education, we combine the depth of the humanities with the power of AI across disciplines. Through collaborative research, we continue to strengthen our AI capabilities.

Launching Industry-Sponsored Programs with Global AI and DX Leaders

HUFS is developing industry-linked academic programs that combine academic learning with global field experience. Through joint education, overseas projects, and collaborative research, we foster future-ready global talent.

Building a Global Think Tank with Worldwide Impact

HUFS is bringing together its diverse research institutes and distinguished scholars to establish Korea's leading global think tank. Organized around two major institutes, the initiative aims to advance world-class research and provide strategic policy recommendations.

1954⁺ History of HUFS

Founded on April 20, 1954, Hankuk University of Foreign Studies was Korea's first higher education institution specializing in foreign languages.

Established to advance Korea's modernization and promote world peace, HUFS remains guided by its founding spirit of "Truth, Peace, and Creation." Its mission is to nurture independent, international, and creative intellectuals who contribute to Korea and the world.
